Patient Care Experience"*

SYMPOSIUM

Health service providers are currently facing a crisis worldwide to meet the demands of the continuous rise of mental issues amongst children, young adults and the elderly. Suicide is on the rise and so are the number of people being diagnosed with mental illness. As such there is a great burden on health service providers from all sectors to keep abreast with this ever-changing and rapidly growing issue. Steps must be taken to reshape and re-align the workforce to provide the right care and patient experience.

This symposium is about showcasing the expertise and good practises of the various multidisciplinary health professionals with a vested interested in mental health care and learning from one another to prepare the workforce for the future. By doing so, we hope to address the changes and demands in mental health and ultimately improve patient care and the patient experience.
